WAITING AND WATCHING

FOUCH'S RUHR SCHEME

LONDON, January 7.

The week-end following the failure of the Paris conference finds the British Government in a dilemma awaiting French action, Paris hesitant and the Germans perplexed, hoping for some form of American intervention, and the United States intensely interested and sympathetic towards France but apprehensive of the economic and financial consequences for France had not yet advanced beyond the stage of cautious enquiry. Nevertheless in all four countries there is a persistent hope that a solution of the crisis will still be found.

ATMOSPHERE CLEARED NOW

The French press is friendly towards Britain, according to Mr. Bonar Law's sincerity and candour adding the French to realise the British standpoint. The British press is manifestly anxious not to say anything to exaggerate or hamper France. The failure of the conference has cleared the atmosphere and in the event of the French plans being less fruitful than the French anticipated it is felt that the Allies may re-co-operate with a view to saving the Peace Treaties and averting anarchy in Europe with greater prospects of success than hitherto. Fouch's plan is to send 45,000 troops to the Ruhr to draw a customs cordon round the Ruhr and Rhineland, disarming on the mines and forests exports and imports, believing that Germany will shortly ask for mercy.

FRANCE'S ULTIMATE OBJECT

According to the Observer France's ultimate object is a huge Franco-German economic combination under French supremacy. Shuman and other German industrialists have suggested this scheme believing it will be the shortest way to restore German supremacy, but sullen resistance by the German people may result in the collapse of Germany in the spring rendering United States intervention inevitable. There are influences in France working against precipitate action. The Radical Labour and Socialist parties are organising meetings to protest against a provocative policy. The danger of the situation is French sensitiveness in regard to national dignity. Le Journal says: "The whole world is awaiting the French forward move. What a roar of laughter there will be if the move is only a hesitating gesture." Commenting on the obstreperous attitude of the Turks at Lausanne which it considers evidence of a French attempt to isolate Britain in the Near East the Observer says that if France persists in this policy Britain will be free to make her own settlements with Russia and Turkey.

MUI TSAI BILL

MORE CHINESE MEETINGS

The incoming board of Directors of the Tung Wah Hospital has called a meeting of the local kaitongs for 2.30 p.m. on Wednesday at the Hospital, to discuss the Mui Tsai Bill.

An advertisement appears in the vernacular press to the effect that the Anti-Mui Tsai Society is calling a meeting of members at 3 p.m. on Saturday to be held at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. to ask the Government to pass the proposed Ordinance for the suppression of mui tsai.

PARIS AFTERMATH

A PESSIMISTIC VIEW

A pessimistic view of the situation in Europe is taken by Nitti's latest book "The decadence of Europe" wherein he contends that the Treaty of Versailles is the chief cause of Europe's troubles. He severely criticises the French policy of extreme nationalism which he says is ruining Europe which is becoming larger than the Balkan with 73 states, all impoverished, compared with 67 in 1914. He concludes that the United States is bound eventually to intervene.

AMERICA A SYMPATHETIC SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON, January 7.

The possibility of America's entry into the European reparations problem is measurably lessened by the Senate's vote proposing the withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine. The official attitude towards the present situation is described as that of a sympathetic spectator friendly to all parties in the crisis with America's good offices and economic strength always available when the road is made clear for American help. There is no indication whether President Harding will take action under Senator Reed's resolution in view of the fact that the withdrawal of American troops is not made mandatory upon the President. In the meantime it is believed in some quarters that an agreement which may be reached with the British mission regarding the funding of the debt may have a far-reaching effect on the entire European economic position.

AT LAUSANNE

THE STRAITS PROBLEM

A RUSSIAN COMPLAINT.

LAUSANNE, January 7.

The Russian delegation has addressed to the President of the conference a verbal note complaining that it was not invited to participate in the elaboration of the draft convention of the Straits, which it understands is proceeding, and renewing its request for participation. The delegation repudiates any responsibility for the obsequy which it says the labours of the Straits commission must otherwise suffer.

RUSSIA'S RED ARMY

AN INVITATION TO FRANCE

PARIS, January 11.

Le Matin says that the Soviet Government has requested the French Government to send to Russia a military mission headed by General Joffre to reorganise the Red Army. The French Government has replied to the effect that it is not disposed at present to send the victor of the Marne among the signatories of the Treaties of Brest-Litovsk and Rapallo.

HELD UP IN CONDUIT ROAD

PORTUGUESE GENTLEMAN ROBBED

A Portuguese gentleman, a Mr. Carvalho, was robbed of a small sum of money in Conduit Road on Saturday about noon. He was stopped by three Chinese, one of whom was armed with a revolver and another with a dagger. Attempting to put up a fight, he was knocked down by the robbers, who refrained from using their arms. After going through his pockets, they left their victim lying in a semi-conscious state. About ten days ago another Portuguese gentleman, was robbed in the same vicinity by three Chinese armed in the same manner as the gang on Saturday. He was returning home late one night when he met the robbers in Robinson Road. They held him up and relieved him of $30. This gentleman did not make a report to the Police.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders is holding its annual ball on Friday.

Gun practice at 10,000 yards range is to be carried out from 9 a.m. on Tuesday and Friday from Mount Davis and Stonecutters respectively.

The Indo-China vessel "Tung Shing" which went ashore in the typhoon during August last year arrived here this morning and is going into Kowloon Dock.

This morning, Mr. R. E. Lindell, sentenced a Chinese to six weeks' imprisonment for picking the pocket of a boatman outside the Western Market on Saturday afternoon. The amount he stole was 3 cents and 1 cash.

A Chinese schoolboy living at Smithfield, Kennedy Town, was reported to the Police that whilst he was learning to ride a bicycle on Saturday afternoon near the Jubilee Road Lookout four men stopped him and stole a gold ring valued at $3 from him.

Shortly after eleven o'clock this morning, the central district was alarmed by continuous blasts on police whistles. A fire alarm was sent and two engines climbed to the junction of Wellington and Wyndham Streets. The cause turned out to be a chimney fire at No. 5, On King Terrace which was put out by the inmates after considerable excitement had been caused to the neighbourhood.

In the Summary Court, this morning, Wing On Cheung and Co. sued the Sincere Insurance and Investment Co. for three sums of $325.69 and costs; $421.94 and costs and $459.12 and costs. In the first instance Wing On judgment against Yee Woo Stall and Wong Chit and the present case was instituted to recover money which the Sincere Insurance and Investment Co. are alleged to owe to the original defendants. The case was heard in Chambers and adjourned sine die.

Dedicated to the soldiers who died in the siege of Tsingtao, a guide to Tsingtao—"The Riviera of the Far East"—has been published by Mr. Junichi Hobson, a Japanese resident with strong British leanings. This guide, which is the only one yet written for Tsingtao, is based on articles the author contributed to the "Tsingtao Leader." In addition to local history, the guide gives much useful information about commerce, industry, schools, forestry, fishery, buildings, etc. Generously illustrated, the guide is also a practically supplied with maps. In a brief preface the author acknowledges the assistance he received from Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Brunel Norman, of Tsingtao.

Another armed robbery in which the main features are almost identical with those reported during the last few days has just occurred. A grocerman of Second Street was visited at 8.30 p.m. last night by a man who tendered ten cents for a catty of rice. The "customer" pulled out a dagger and ordered the inmates to be quiet. Altogether ten men entered and the miser and his folk were driven into the rear of the shop where they were bound and gagged. The keys of the safe were taken from the master. A gold wrist watch and ring worth $27 was stolen from a folk and $5.00 removed from the safe. After staying about half an hour the robbers made good their escape.

BEGAN WHEN A GIRL.

Neglect of symptoms which first became apparent when she was emerging from childhood into womanhood has caused many a girl long years of suffering in later life. Such was the case with Mrs. Mable Johnston, an American lady residing at 47 Bonnington Street, East Boston, Mass., who fortunately discovered the help she needed in Dr. Williams' pink pills.

"My sickness began when I was a girl," relates Mrs. Johnston. "Overstudy and lack of outdoor exercise caused a breakdown in my health, and I never knew what it was to be as strong as most of the girls of my acquaintance. I was pale and so nervous that it seemed as though I should fly to pieces. I suffered from headaches a great deal of the time and didn't sleep well. I lost flesh and strength and my appetite was poor. When I was a young woman a friend recommended Dr. Williams' pink pills and she was so sure that they would help me that I got a supply of the pills and began to take them. They helped me in much shorter time than I had expected for I had been ill so long. My appetite improved almost at once. Gradually my strength returned and I gained in weight and felt better in every way. I became less nervous and rarely had a headache now."

"Dr. Williams' pink pills are sold by all druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 6, Riverside Road, Shanghai, at $1.50 per bottle, $3 for six, post free. Equally good for men."

CORRESPONDENCE.

JOCKEY CLUB PARABLE.

[To the Editor of the China Mail.]

Sir.—Will you kindly allow me the use of your columns in order to tell a story, which, I think, will express the views of the thinking public of Hongkong?

Some years ago, there came to this Colony a man and his family. The man was not, nor has he ever been, of high intellectual standing, but at the time of his arrival, he was filled with Utopian ideals, and he had at least a kindly heart.

Perhaps it was the knowledge of his own weakness that led him to realize his need of help. At any rate, he took to his home an adopted child. This child was keen and filled with wisdom and understanding. For fifty years, or more, he laboured for the family of his adopted father. Under his guiding hand, the family became great and what was once a tender sapling grew into a mighty oak, because of the genius of the adopted child.

But, when the tree became great, it forgot the source of its greatness and its heart was turned to stone. The son of its adoption, now grown old in faithful service, was suddenly driven from the family circle. They became puffed up because of their riches, and felt that he was not good enough to associate with the royal blood. He was driven from the house and asked to find shelter in the out-houses and barns. A wooden fence was even erected to prevent him from again entering his old home.

The Old Man felt deeply the ingratitude, but, realizing the unworthiness and shallowness of the family, for whom he had given his life, he let the wooden fence remain. He even left the out-houses and the stables. He left them—the weaklings of the earth—to enjoy the fruits of his years of labour.

Even the snobs and least enlightened of Hongkong would rebel against, and try to rectify a circumstance like that which has been described above, but, in doing so, they would pronounce judgement on their own selves.

Three score, or more, years in the past, the Jockey Club came into our midst. They were poor and helpless and even had to beg for the ground on which they now stand.

The adopted child was the public of Hongkong, and, under its wise and generous care, the Jockey Club has grown into a mighty tree.

Now, in the ignorance of his mind, the pride of his heart, the greatness of his riches, he turns the faithful benefactor from his door. The writer, in talking to one individual who claims to be a member of the above highly intelligent organization, was told, to use his own words, "We don't care whether the public comes or not. We've got all the money we need."

The public of Hongkong is great. They could tear down with their strength the ignoble fence, or even the house itself that covers the ignorant and narrow-minded individual, but their pride and greatness is too generous to permit them to fight against an organization which they have backed so faithfully for three score years and ten.

They will leave the wooden fence, the out-houses and the stables. They will leave the degenerate old family to enjoy in solitude the work of their hands. What would you think, Mr. Jockey Club, of the Y.R.O. if, at their annual fête, the best seats in the house were reserved for members only and you were forced to sit where you could not see the finish of the swimming races, or could only see the divers when they left the board and not when they hit the water?

You would look with contempt on such a club and its yearly fête would soon sink into oblivion. And, if such were the case, your sentiment and lack of interest would be thoroughly justified.

A member of your organization, to quote his own words, said, "The public will come. They can't resist the method of making money which we hold out to them."

I suppose he had reference to the ten cent dividends which you have so generously paid on five-dollar investments.

I believe that I express the sentiments and intentions of the entire public of Hongkong when I say to the Jockey Club:

"Either you tear down the fence which separates us from our old domain and allow us to associate with you as we have done in the years that have passed, or we will leave you to enjoy the fruits of our labour and never again lend our assistance to such an unappreciative, bigoted and snobbish organization."

Yours, etc.,

FIVE YEARS A VISITOR.

Hongkong, January 5.

FOOTBALL.

SATURDAY'S RESULTS.

LEAGUE FIRST DIVISION.

CARLISLE V. KINGS.

Played on Navy "B" ground. Carlisle won the toss and Jones started the game against the sun. The Sailors' right wing took up the attack, but found the defence safe, and a visit to the other end resulted. Midfield play followed for a time until Williams receiving sent Jones away. The latter player forced a corner. Scott placed well in front of goal and Jones headed into the net. The Sailors now took up the attack and the King's defence had a warm ten minutes. The former's forwards were out of shooting form and half time arrived with the King's leading by one goal to love.

Starting the second half the Sailors attacked but had shooting again let them down. During one of their attacks Barlow had the bad luck to handle in the penalty area, and Botting was entrusted with the kick. He however failed to equalise, sending the ball over the top. The Sailors were not downhearted however, and returned to the attack, but try as they would they could not beat Pasco. A breakaway by the King's forwards saw Jones heavily brought down by a "sandwich charge" in the danger area. Newton took the kick and made no mistake sending in a low shot in the right hand corner. With two goals down and only ten minutes to go the Sailors tried hard to score but failed and they lost the game by 2 goals to 0.

Referee: Mr. Hollands. On the run of the play the Carlisle did not deserve to lose. They had quite a number of the play as the King's, but where the latter accepted the chances given, the form spoiled them by rash shooting or passing. A one goal draw would have been the best result.

HAWKINS V. TITANIA.

Played on Navy "A" ground and losing the toss, the Titania kicked off and took up the attack, forcing a corner that the defence cleared. A few minutes later offside; on another good chance to score. Play being transferred Barkham asked when close in. At the other end Bates had a shot that brought the goalkeeper down to full length to save. Play going to the other end a mis-kick by the backs let in Osborn who had no difficulty in beating Phillips. Play now ruled fast and both ends were visited in turn. A free kick against the Hawkins close in saw Emery head in the equaliser, half time arriving with the score one all.

In the second half both sides tried hard for the winning goal but neither side managing to do so the game ended in a draw of one goal each.

Referee: Mr. Smith. On the run of the play the result is a good indication of the game, but there is no doubt that had the Titania taken advantage of all the opportunities offered they would have won the game.

POLICE V. CLUB.

Played at Sookmoo and resulted in a goalless draw. Both sides missed opportunities. The Police have Swan to thank for not losing the game and the Club must certainly thank the Police forwards for not shooting when they had the chance, but hanging on to the ball only to be robbed by the Club backs. The game was uninteresting from a football point of view as neither side seemed to exert themselves.

Referee: Mr. Collins.

KOWLOON V. TAMAR.

Played at Kowloon the home team going down by one goal to none. Tamar won the toss and Mason started the game for Kowloon who were the first to attack. A centre from the left saw Mason send over the bar. At the other end Woodman saved well from Hill. Both sides were playing good football and each goal was visited in turn, Kowloon possibly having the better of the exchanges. Half time no score.

In the second half Tamar took up the attack and a foul awarded them against Pasco. Just outside the penalty box saw Handford score from the kick. Play became fast and Brown being brought down in the penalty area, Mason took the kick which Routley saved at the expense of a corner. A few minutes later Kowloon were awarded another penalty. Whether Routley took the spot kick and sent straight to Routley who had no difficulty in clearing. Kowloon were now having most of the play but Routley's goal was very safe, and time arrived with the Tamar winning.

Referee: Mr. Portman. Kowloon's only goal was scored in this game for besides missing two HARMSTON'S CUS.

REAWAKENING CHILDHOOD MEMORIES.

The Dictionary prosaically defines a circus as "a place for the exhibition of feats of horsemanship it is something more than that, sure. To the crowds of adults have thronged the tent at Kowloon has been a reawakening of old memories, a return to youthful days, the fate of daring by resourceful men and women, the tumbling of agile acrobats, the triumph of man over the denizens of the sea, the whimsicalities of clowns, and amused us as nothing else seemed to do. It says much for the control of the stables of Eastern circus, that these long-looked-for acrobats are restored to us and we live in another world. All the episodes of a circus are there, and its and laughs by the dozen. We get wonder at the daring of a tree act that sometimes kills the horse, the balancing by one who really makes his toes his fingers; at (personally) that can make a tightrope to human will. And when we see a lofty elephant move the steps of a waltz tune, amazement gives place to amusement. A specialist in a wire, a clown who is funny and as well a mite who smilingly yes things on a trapeze, are among the many things of red to us. It is a show of more than passing interest. It is one of individuality and conviction merit and to which we imagine the community will throng as did on Saturday, in overwhelming numbers.

praise they had the best part of the play and should have scored on a least two other occasions. This was case of the better team losing.

SOUTH CHINA V. R.G.A.

Played on the Chinese ground, a fast and exciting game ending in a draw of two goals each. Wong Pak Ching scored for the Chinese in the first half and the teams crossed over with this score.

Recommencing the Chinese took up the attack and Wong increased their lead. The Gunners woke up to the fact that they were two goals down and attacked in earnest and Pasco and Lelliott both beat Lau Hing Chong thereby bringing the scores level.

Referee: Mr. Garton.

SECOND DIVISION.

Hawkins had a runaway game against the Carlisle, scoring no less than 11 times; the latter failed to reply.

On the Club ground the King's second string beat the University by 3 goals to 0.

The Warders secured their first win by beating the Police by two goals to none.

Marathon just got home against the R.G.A. by the odd goal in five. Ambrose had an easy win against the Auxiliaries, by three goals to 0. Titania scored an unexpected win against the Chinese "B" team by two clear goals, the Chinese failing to score, whilst the Chinese "A" team won their game against Kowloon by the only goal scored in the match.

MUI TSAI.

Whatever opinion one holds regarding the mui tsai question—that the system represents a necessary Chinese custom or that it amounts to slavery—one cannot help feeling that the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, in deciding to oppose the Government's protective measure is making a grave mistake. Grant the Chamber's fullest claims. Peculiar domestic, political and economic circumstances make the mui tsai system inevitable. Just now its abolition would bring worse evils with starvation the alternative. The Government's measure would mean police interference with private households—an outcome manifestly undesirable. Owners of mui tsai—rather, employers—are, generally, not more prone to cruelty than parents; indeed sometimes less as the bond of relationship often incites the cruel to even greater excesses. (Study the Home statistics and you will appreciate how cruel parents can be to their own children.) Even admit the point Bernard Shaw makes in his long treatise on "Parents and Children," that families are not kept together by family feeling but by human feeling; admit this with its corollary that a mui tsai consequently stands equal chance with the child of the house for humane treatment.

Concede the Chamber's fullest claims and still you must hold its opposition to the Government's measure seriously misguided. Obviously, any local opposition must, in this particular instance, fail inevitably. The bill, the Attorney-General pointed out, has been introduced under instructions from Home. The official majority here, therefore, has no choice; it must see that the bill duly becomes law. This, however, is only one reason why the Chamber's attitude is misguided, futile. The Hongkong Government itself has no love for the bill. Even now it still stoutly denies that the mui tsai system amounts to slavery, and forced from Home to abolish what it maintains does not exist, saves its face by admitting that the system does lead itself to grave abuse (though possibly to no more grave abuse than the family system which treats the child as the property of its immediate physical parents, allowing them to do what they like with it as far as it will let them, and making its condition that "which adults recognise as the most mis-rable and politically dangerous for themselves: namely the condition of slavery.") With the Government obviously reluctant to cause undue hardship by—to quote the words of another recent reform measure—too drastic an interference with long established social and economic conditions, the Chinese could have safely relied upon the new law being enforced with the least possible conflict, except, of course, where "grave abuse" demanded its most rigid application. The new law, they might reasonably have expected, would, for the present at any rate, have existed mainly to deal with those instances of grave abuse which the Attorney-General cited, not to destroy the whole system before economic conditions have made its final demise inevitable or, perhaps, even desirable.

This view, however, does not seem to have appealed to the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, and its representatives in the Legislative Council have been instructed to fight the second reading. Their efforts will be wasted, for the bill will actually become law, the first measure seeking to deal with a very difficult problem.

FROM ENGLAND TO
SHANGHAI.TRAWLER'S 11,000 MILES
VOYAGE.

Bearing more than a trace of her submarine-like experiences through 11,000 miles of the most part of the 87-ton steel trawler "Wyberton" reached Shanghai early during the week-end before last. As stated previously the little vessel left a old Lincolnshire port of Boston October 25. She steamed past Wosung Fort at 8.50 on the morning of New Year's Day, after an adventurous voyage occupying over ten weeks. At present it is undergoing a refit at the Sze-poo Dock, before being sold over to her new owner.

Representative of the N. C. Daily found the crew gathered in the mess of the tiny stern cabin, which has done duty as mess room, sleeping quarters, in tropical weather, the crew were in the highest spirits. We talked a whole afternoon. The men were glad to get here. It had been an exciting voyage. She had proved herself an excellent sea boat and behaved well on all occasions.

Captain G. R. Wallace, the master, deep water officer, who was specially engaged to bring her to China, told a story of perpetual high seas musters of all hands at the pumps. Their first experiences of this kind were in the well known Bay. Since leaving the Channel the weather had daily increased in force. It had been necessary to keep the pumps constantly at work. The stokehold and boiler room were flooded a little almost as matter of course, but on the fourth day out the engine staff were in real difficulty. Pumps and pipes were choked. For hours the crew were bailing the water by hand, with the engines stopped and sea anchors out in a sea which carried overboard 10 or 12 tons of coal. Fortunately the pumps eventually were got to work again, but so much damage had been caused as to render it imperative to put into Lisbon.

Capt. Wallace knows the China coast and has visited Shanghai often in the past while his Chief Engineer, Mr. Mercer, has been on this trade. The remainder of the trawler's company are typical of the strong and hearty fellows who go from coast to coast in the North Sea, from the Faroes to Iceland and from Iceland to Newfoundland, but they go across the Atlantic in much larger trawlers than the "Wyberton," explained one member of the crew.

Capt. Wallace was by no means of the opinion that the failure of previous efforts to introduce steam trawling in China will be repeated in the case of the "Wyberton." He recalled the last trawling venture out here and ascribed the ill success of the promoters as having been due to a neglect to provide the latest equipment and proper instruction. The "Wyberton" has on board the latest appliances, he pointed out, and a very old hand in the person of the fishing master, Mr. Lucas, who is shortly to resume command of the vessel.

Asked the identity of her new owners, Capt. Wallace explained that he merely came to China on behalf of her former ones. He was not sure about the matter. He believed, however, that she had been purchased by a wealthy company who was floating a shipping company.

In addition to those already mentioned, the crew, the majority of whom are Boston men, consists of Mr. Mercer, chief engineer; Mr. Davies; Mr. Baiges, second mate; Mr. Wilson; and Mr. Morrison.

BOLTED OUT.

A HOUSEHOLDER'S RIGHTS.

That a householder has a perfect right to bolt his street door at midnight, no matter what inconvenience may be caused to other inmates of the house, was the ruling of the Tottenham magistrate, when a man was summoned for assault.

The man said he took his wife to a West End theatre, and returned home to find another tenant in the house had bolted the door against them.

When the door was opened they were saluted with abuse, and a fight resulted. A fine was inflicted for the assault.

"Will you ask this man not to bolt the door!" asked the defendant.

Magistrate: This was at 12.30. He had a perfect right to bolt the door.

NAVAL OFFICER'S DEATH.

MOTOR SMASH INQUIRY.

OTHER CHAUFFEUR'S EVIDENCE.

The adjourned inquest concerning the death of Lieut. Commander Hooper, who was killed in a motor accident at Causeway Bay on New Year's Night was resumed to-day before the Coroner, Mr. J. R. Wood, and a jury.

After Surgeon Commander G. H. Hayes had given evidence about the deceased's injuries, Ng Ting mow, the driver of the car which overtook the one the deceased was riding in, was examined. He said that he left Repulse Bay at 2 a.m. Up the incline he did 17 or 18 miles per hour. After passing Tytan Tuk, being more on the level he was going at about 15 miles per hour. The deceased's car passed him at the incline at Tytan and he followed it at a distance of about 50 feet. At Causeway Bay he complied with a signal to pass.

The Coroner: How was the signal given?

Witness: Hands were waved on both sides of the car.

Continuing the chauffeur said that he then accelerated the speed at the same time sounding his horn. They had passed Ah King's slipway when the two cars were level.

He judged that his car was clear off the deceased's car before he negotiated the curve at all. He did not know until next day an accident had occurred. He was never directly in front of the other car.

"FOR HIS FATHER."

OPIUM IN CLOCKS.

Chief Preventive Officer Clark prosecuted a Chinese this morning before Mr. J. R. Wood for the unlawful possession of 40 tael prepared and 20 tael raw opium. The defendant was arrested in Wing Sing Street as the result of previous information and the opium was found concealed in a box he was carrying. On the box being opened it was found to contain six clocks but inside four of the clocks was the opium.

The defendant pleaded guilty and explained that he was carrying it to the country for his father's use. He was sentenced to six months' hard labour for the prepared opium and fined $400 or an additional 3 months' hard labour for the raw opium. The prisoner protested loudly in the Swatow dialect as he left the Court.

BEATING THE "BOOKIE"

POSTMAN-PUNTER'S PLAN.

A postman's ingenious system of defrauding a Glasgow commission agent was described at Croydon, when John Sweeney and John Tucknott, a labourer, were charged with attempting to obtain £7 7s. 6d. from John McLaughlan.

It was stated that Sweeney, who was attached to the Croydon post office, posted a letter stamped with the 1.45 p.m. mark. Later in the day, after he had ascertained the winners of two races, he abstracted the letter from the post, wrote out a slip placing 10s. on two horses that had already won, erased the pencilled address on the envelope, and substituted that of Mr. McLaughlan. The slip was placed inside and Sweeney placed the letter in the post.

Mr. McLaughlan, noticing that the envelope bore traces of a previous address, and that the flap was fastened with stamp paper margins, handed the contents to the police. The two men had contributed 5s. each to the bets, and were to have shared the proceeds.

They were each sentenced to one month's hard labour.

EARLIER TELEGRAMS.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

CHINA'S REVISED TARIFF.

LONDON, January 6th.

Sir Edwin F. Stockton, writing to the Manchester Guardian, expresses the view that Italy has now given way.

He says that, provided the policy of force is abandoned, there will be a new era of negotiation in China, which will be entirely to international advantage.

[Sir Edwin F. Stockton, in a letter to the Times, severely criticised the action of Italy alone among the Powers withholding her consent to an effective five per cent. Customs duty in China.]

CHINESE EDUCATION.

LONDON, January 6th.

In a letter to the Times, Professor H. A.

Giles says the general principle of allocation of the Boxer indemnity to the education of Chinese students is unlikely to meet with serious opposition, but two points should be borne in mind, firstly we are primarily if not wholly out to secure important commercial advantages for ourselves, and we are not out to safeguard improve the moral, spiritual or cultural advantages of China, therefore it would be most inadvisable for missionaries or British institutions to undertake the

the cry would immediately be raised that our secret intention was to Christianise

China, a cry which would immediately be taken up by the Anti-Christian

Society and might possibly jeopardise

the whole scheme, which should be entirely secular; and secondly no financial assistance should be given to any Chinese student who cannot show satisfactory knowledge of his own language.

Mr. W. Nelson Bilton, of the London

Missionary Society, writing to the Times, suggests the establishment of a joint

Anglo-Chinese commission, consisting of representatives of the British Government and educational interests, and acknowledge Chinese educational authorities, to recommend plans for the application of the indemnity to educational purposes.

CHINA'S DELEGATE TO THE

OPIUM COMMISSION.

LONDON, January 6th.

The Chinese Legation states that Chao

Hsin-chu will attend the Opium Commission at Geneva on January 6th.

REINSTATEMENT OF STUDENTS.

PEKING, January 6th.

Vice-Minister Luo Ching-chang recommended to President Li Yuan-hung, who approved, the reinstatement of the students whom Kao Eng-hung dismissed

after the strike by the students in question, and they have already resumed work.

SIBERIA.

PEKING, January 6th.

A foreign official despatch from Vindivostok says that the Reds have assured traders and merchants that they can carry on as prior to the Red occupation;

The Reds promise not to requisition goods or alter the tariff or loading charges, and to allow the free-traders to work

as usual for the same charge.

Since the despatch was written, however, the Reds have taken over the Egersheld in the harbour, and this may alter the conditions of export.

LAUSANNE CONFERENCE.

LAUSANNE, January 6th.

The Turkish delegate, Rismur, created a dramatic scene by angrily refusing to discuss the questions of the Armenians' national home or matters relating to the Chaldeans. The Bulgars stood up, shouted and waved their arms. They also charged the Allies with employing Armenians to ruin the Turks, and quitted the hall in a rage.

The heads of the Allied Mission decided to send a letter of protest to Ismet Pasha.

Notwithstanding the Anglo-French re-proaches, the Allies are cooperating differences at Lausanne, and it is not believed that the Turks will derive any encouragement from the failure of the Paris conference. It is expected that the Lausanne conference will wind up in a fortnight.

LAUSANNE, January 6th.

At a meeting of the Capitalist Commission this afternoon Signor Geronzi asked Ismet Pasha to give the Turkish answer to the Allied proposals, as proposed at the last meeting.

Ismet Pasha replied at length, practically turning down everything, refusing to accept the proposal for foreign judges

as an infringement of Turkish soverignty.

LAUSANNE, January 6th.

Ismet Pasha this evening replied to the Allied protest regarding the Rismur incident. The Turks prefer to say nothing concerning the nature of the reply, desiring to regard the incident as closed. Nevertheless, there is reason to believe that the reply follows the lines

CRICKET.

SATURDAY'S MATCHES.

HOME TEAMS' SUCCESSES.

Saturday's Cricket Matches were remarkable for the number of wins by teams playing on their own grounds. Altogether seven matches were played and six were won by home elevens while the other ended in a draw.

The most surprising feature of the League matches was the defeat of a strong Navy, eleven by the Craigen-gower team which included two players who have previously played for the Navy in the League. Omar and Grimes figured in a good stand for the winners while the Rev. Purcell and Lieut. Skinner got into the forties for the visitors.

On the military ground at Happy Valley, the Gunners proved too strong for the Infantrymen by 31 runs. Both teams had a pronounced tail but the other batsmen made useful scores. For the R. G. A. Capt. Oliver—one of the most consistent scorers in the League—and Major Matthews each made 47. Oliver's score included 2 sixes and 6 fours. Against some good bowling the Infantry opened badly. Bacon and Dodd made a stand, the former scoring 23 and Dodd carried out his bat for 50 including 9 fours. Lt. White, the last bowler put on for the Infantry, secured 8 wickets (6 of them clean bowled) for 17 runs in 6.3 overs—a feat that will be remembered for some time. Capt. Davies again took the most wickets for the R.G.A.—8 to be precise (7 clean bowled)—but his average was not as good as White's.

Civil Service 2nd XI met with another defeat, this time at the hands of the Varsity 2nd XI. Lam, who opened the home team's innings, carried out his bat for 70, but his innings was marred by a number of easy chances which were not accepted. The Civil Service batsmen failed against some good bowling, the highest score being 11.

In a friendly game, the Club drew with Kowloon. Evans, bowling with consistency, brought about a collapse, 6 Hongkong batsmen being down for 30. The tail wagged and 74 were on the board before the 7th wicket fell. At this stage, Evans tired and 139 showed for 9 wickets but the innings closed for the same total. Kowloon, after a promising opening could not overhaul the total and when time was called, 6 wickets were down for 104 runs.

Civil Service beat University in a friendly. Sayer making 43 runs and taking 4 wickets for 11 for the home team. A. B. Sutherland, after a long absence from local cricket, made a re-appearance, scoring 24 for Civil Service. Both teams are in the running for League honours and the League game scheduled for February 10 at the Pokfulam Ground is looked forward to with great interest.

Kowloon 2nd XI took their revenge for a defeat on Boxing Day, beating the Club 2nd XI comfortably. Mackenzie made 61 for the Club out of a total of 107, his score including a six, a five and six fours. Jax, paved the way to victory for Kowloon, compiling 88, the highest score for the day. Post, achieved the "hat-trick," bowling Overly, Fraser and Jeffries with successive balls.

Police beat Craigen-gower 2nd XI, thanks to good bowling by Watts and a fine innings by King for 49 not out.

Appended are the detailed results of the games which were played on the grounds of the first-named club—

One of the most sensational trials of recent years was the suit instituted in Boston by Attorney John F. Sheehan to prove that Dorothy Davis Gordon, $500,000 heiress to the estate of Frederick D. Gordon, of Baldwin, L. I., and Boston, is sane. It is alleged her guardian, William F. Gardin, had her placed in a Boston insane asylum to prevent her marriage. The home pictured is at Baldwin, Long Island.

Fascisti Premier Mussolini (with ribbon across his chest) receiving the salute of his followers upon his triumphant entry into Naples.

Wedding of the ex-Kaiser to Princess Hermine von Reuss. The upper photograph shows the crowd gathered before Doorn Castle. The photograph of the ex-Kaiser, attired in his war-time uniform, was made with a telephoto camera as Wilhelm hurried from his car to the civil wedding. The ex-Crown Prince is shown motoring to the wedding. D. Vogel, former court pastor in Berlin, performed the ceremony.

This is the only posed photograph of Princess Hermine von Reuss, in the gown in which she married ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, at Doorn, Holland. The gown is a simple, sleeveless frock of rich charmeuse, cut in Grecian fashion. With the Princess are her son, Hans, and her daughter, Henriette.

Lillian Peterson, who was "Miss New Haven," Conn., in the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant, revealed her divorce from Bob Pickett, heir of a prominent Beverly (Mass.) family, in a peculiar tangle that followed her marriage to Dr. Sidney Isaacs, of Boston and New Haven. Although, in Connecticut, she is legally the wife of Dr. Isaacs, she is not in Massachusetts, where a divorcee is not permitted to remarry for six months.

Dr. Heinrich Shipstead, Minneapolis, Minn., dentist, has been elected to the U.S. Senate on the Farmer-Labor ticket. He was strongly supported by Senator La Follette.

"Every day, in every way I am getting better and better." These words, introduced by Dr. Emile Coue, noted French auto-suggestion healer are sweeping the world. He has a mental healing sanitarium at Nancy, France, and his books have been translated into scores of languages.

Grand Vizier Tewfik Pasha who unsuccessfully opposed the Kamalist move which resulted in the overthrow of the Sultan.

This monster horn, ten feet high, has been acquired by the Shriner's Band, of New Orleans, La. Three men have to carry it for the player.
